

LOTS FOR SALE IN STANTON

Stanton, located seven miles east of Red Oak on Highway 34, is a proud community of around 700 people. Stanton is best known for its Swedish heritage, which can be experienced through the Swedish Heritage and Cultural Center, located in the center of town, and the Swedish Coffeepot Water Tower, known as the largest in the world. In 1997 Stanton was honored as the top tourism community in Iowa (pop. under 5000) because of these attractions.

Stanton is also the home of Viking Lake, a popular state park used for fishing, swimming, camping, boating, picnicking, and hiking.

A few great opportunities Stanton offers is the Stanton Viking Center and Stanton Child Resource Center. The Stanton Viking Center is proud to offer a spacious fitness studio, indoor walking track, regulation basketball court, various cardio equipment and weight-lifting machines, free weights, and a locker room in the wellness area. With a capacity of 80 people, the Viking Room is our multipurpose room that provides a space for many events, health clinics, meetings and classes. <http://stantonvikingcenter.com/> Stanton Child Resource Center is a non-profit childcare center in Stanton, Iowa, committed to serving the area families. We believe that these are important elements of the full development of each child's potential. <http://www.scrckids.com/>
